THE FREE SCHOLARSHIPS

The contest for free scholarships in Stockton Business College, and $100 for expenses while attending the six months' course, as offered by the Ledger in another column, is now on. Two candidates have been voted for. Lewis Love of Jackson has received 300 votes, and James Pengilly Jr., of Sutter Creek, 50 votes. This is a start. Now let some others get in, and rustle for a business education free of expense. It is the chance of a lifetime.

BIG TAXPAYERS.

In another column we print a list of the heaviest taxpayers of the county. Included in this list, the number in each township is as follows:

Township One	57
Township Two	57
Township Three	16
Township Four	40
Township Five	21

Out of a total of over 2000 taxpayers in the county less than two hundred are assessed $4000 or over.

In assessed valuation, as far as these big taxpayers are concerned, the different townships show up as follows, township one taking a strong lead:

Township One	$1,193,128
Township Two	615,384
Township Three	317,464
Township Four	797,495
Township Five	259,738

Total.....3,174,209

From this it will be seen that the 191 taxpayers contribute considerably more than one-half the total revenue from property taxes collected in Amador county. This is contrary to the general notion that the small holders, being so much more numerous than the wealthier class, pay the bulk of the taxes. Looking at the matter closer, we find that township one includes, in assessed values, more than one-third of the above total. It may be safely asserted that this ratio will hold good, not only as regards those who are on the roll for $4000 and over, but also for all taxpayers. In other words, township one contains more than one-third of the property values of the entire county.

Township five has the smallest roll of any section. Heretofore township three has held this distinction, and in fact it does so today, because the largest item in the record this year consists of a mortgage of $200,000, which is evidently far in excess of the actual cash value of the property. With this stricken out, township three is the smallest contributor to the support of the state and county government, as in former years.

JUSTICES AND CONSTABLES.

The justices and constables of this county were staggered by the decision of the appellate court reversing the supreme court on the salary question, holding that the law under which they have been drawing salaries is unconstitutional. They were in doubt as to the immediate effect it would have upon them—whether they would have to return to the fee system, without any further ado, or still draw salary as they have been doing for two years. Of course the decision was a bombshell in their camp, and created a flutter. We assume that the auditor will continue to draw the warrants for salaries; however, the same as he has been doing since the Amador case was decided by the highest tribunal. That is his authority. The remittance from the supreme court is paramount to any other authority as far as he is concerned. He would be in contempt of court were he to refuse to obey the mandate already issued. In fact he has drawn warrants for salaries for the present month, and no doubt will continue to do so until his authority thereunder is revoked by the same tribunal that issued it. The question, in would seem, must go to the supreme court again for final adjustment.

Much is being said about the glories of the salary system, as compared with the fee system. It is claimed that to work under a salary is the correct thing, notwithstanding the cost. That the fee system led to graft, and all that sort of palaver. The attempt is made to popularize the salary basis in view of possibly another tussle in the legislature and courts. But we are prepared to say that no amount of such sophistry will make the method now prevailing popular with the taxpayers, who have to foot the bills. It is not right to pay salary for any and all kinds of public service. It would be just as reasonable to place grand and trial jurors on a salary as justices and constables. County surveyor, public administrator and coroner might also claim the same title to salary. The fact is a public officer should be paid for the time he devotes to the duties of his office, and no more. If the duties do not involve all his time, he should not be a salaried official.

For the service of two or three days in the year it is ridiculous to claim that a man should be paid by the month all the year round. That is what has been and is being done. To say that the salary system is an estoppel to graft is also unwarranted. No system is proof against the graft spirit. It can find means of gratification under a salary as well as under the fee system. The only way to curb graft is to punish it by legal methods wherever and whenever it shows its front.

THE EXPLANATION THEREOF.

The Ledger last week quoted from the Dispatch a few lines concerning the arrest of the Lancha Plana murderers, which the Dispatch had quoted from the Stockton Mail, and, as usual, distorted the facts and made it appear that this paper had stated the paragraph quoted. It was done with malice aforethought, and with the intent to create dissension between the peace officers of the county and this paper, but failed of its purpose. The article quoted from the Mail was credited to that journal, and was substantially what had been told the Dispatch by sheriff Norman concerning the pursuit and capture of the alleged murderers. There was no reference to politics in our quotation, and no intention to create friction or dissension on our part. In fact, we had no knowledge of any such feeling existing, and deem further explanation unnecessary. Sheriff Norman denies that there is any friction between him and the District Attorney's offices, and says that the opposition he encountered was from the outside. The Dispatch is always disposed to give credit where credit is due, and does not see a nigger in the woodpile every time a political opponent speaks favorable of a public official. The Ledger should be sure of its ground before making such assertions, an should be manly enough to make the amende honorable to all concerned.—Dispatch.

The above may seem to the Dispatch man a full and complete vindication. To the general reader however it will be deemed childish and puerile. From a journalistic standpoint it is no excuse at all. The Ledger was not aware that the entire article in the Dispatch was a clipping from the Mail. Admitting this to be true, it does not abate one jot of the Ledger's criticism thereon. Indeed, it places our cotemporary in a more unenviable light than in the absence of his lame defense. He published a statement taken from an outside paper that severely reflected upon the mutual relations of officials of this county charged with the prosecution of crime. The local editor was in a position to ascertain for himself whether the Mail's charge against the administration was true or false. Yet without protest, without comment of any kind, he sends forth the damaging statement broadcast over the county. By silence under these circumstances he, whether unwittingly or otherwise it matters not, set his seal of approval to the statement—in fact, adopted it as his own. It does not come with good grace to try and shift the blame to a foreign journalist. Probably the re-publisher failed to realize the full import of the copied article, and certainly its appearance in the Dispatch created not a ripple of excitement. But when the Ledger pointed out the tremendous significance thereof, lo! there is a howl from one end of Amador to the other. The Ledger did not make the damaging assertion, but simply wrote up its serious purport after it was made. The Ledger was justified in its comments, and it is for the Dispatch to do the apology not for publishing a false statement, without the slightest intimation of its falsity.

The court of appeals of the southern district has taken a whack at the game ordinances passed by the supervisors. The decision declares invalid all local laws regulating the killing of game, holding that the legislature alone has authority to make laws on that question. In other words, the court holds we presume that two sets of laws, one by the state and the other by the county, differing widely in their purport, cannot be tolerated. In a short time, it is safe to say, the supreme court will be occupied for a considerable portion of its time in reviewing the work of the different district courts.

Why Not a Public Library?

There is no reason why Jackson should be without a library. The state stands ready at any time to send books, if a library association can be formed. It two or three can be gathered together in the name of literature, they can have the blessing of books. In other words, if three persons will make the application, and will agree to care for them, the state library will forward a carefully chosen set of fifty books, these to be changed for a new set at the expiration of a reasonable period.

If some of our citizens will take this matter up, the Ledger will undertake to secure a room to be used for this purpose free of rent for six months. This will give a chance to try the scheme, and perhaps open an opportunity for a permanent town library. It is something that is very much needed in this community, and its good influence would be soon felt.

When the chance lies at our door, and will cost nothing, save a little effort, it seems a great pity to let it slip.

Let somebody wake up to this matter, and take it in hand. We want all the educational advantages we can get. Perhaps a library will lead eventually to a high school, and our citizens will not then have to take their children away from Jackson to educate them.

The Ledger is willing to take the lead in this matter, and will do all the necessary corresponding with Sacramento, if some of the townspeople will give their cooperation. Let us hear from you.

THE IONE SITUATION.

Next Monday the board of supervisors will meet in regular session. It will be one of the most important meetings held in a long time, as the matter of renewing permits for liquor licenses will come up. A lively tussle is expected on account of the peculiar situation at Ione. The saloonkeepers have their petitions filed, and money deposited for licenses, and will be out in force. On the other hand, it is said the anti-saloon league will also be here, with an attorney to represent their view of the matter. The proposition is to pass the matter up to the board of supervisors—that they have no right to grant a permit for carrying on a business within limits proscribed by the law. But the other side will contend that they have carried on business heretofore in their respective places, and that it is unjust and at right angles with a proper regard for vested interests to throw them out of business in that off-hand manner. Besides which it is for the courts to decide the questions involved; why not test the points involved before the tribunals who have to pass upon the validity of such laws. Altogether, the situation is full of interest, and the proceedings will be watched closely especially if the disposition is shown to take it into court for final adjustment.

SOLD FOR DELINQUENT TAXES.

Last Saturday, after due advertising, the Portero ranch near Forest Home was sold by the tax collector by public auction. The taxes had been allowed to accumulate for several years, and it was deemed to the state. Lately an application was made to the state controller for an authorization to sell at public auction, and under this authorization the sale last Saturday was made, the taxes and cost having run up from $6 in 1896 to $187.66 at the date of sale.

There was a spirited contest for the property, five or six bidders being present, and participating. Prothero one of the heirs of the original owner, was anxious to secure the ranch. It was finally sold to Geo. E. Allen for the sum of $750, being $562.36 over and above the amount of taxes, penalties and costs. This surplus will be divided between the state and the county, as well as delinquent taxes and costs. There are scores of pieces of property sold to the state upon which like handsome profit might be realized if passed to a public sale.

The state board of pharmacy is taking steps to see that the law requiring all pharmacists to register with the county clerks in their respective counties is enforced. Dr. Crowley the secretary of the board, is now on a tour through the mother lode, Tuolumne, Calaveras and Amador counties may expect a visit from him within the next few days.

Mrs. Richtermyer is putting in a large pipe on Broadway street—a 5-inch pipe to replace the three inch pipe which has done service for many years. The business has long since outgrown the service of such a conduit. Garbarini and Aata are doing the work, and have had quite a force of men employed in digging trenches, etc. The fire protection for that section will also be materially enhanced.

Rev. R. W. Tenney, attorney at law, will be in Jackson next week representing the Anti-Saloon League, and will speak in the Methodist church next Sunday evening in the interest of the League. The Oakland Enquirer says that Dr. J. L. Mayon, for several years a practicing physician at Sutter Creek, and county physician, but who for more than ten years past has filled a prominent place as a medical practitioner in Oakland, has decided to move with his family to Vallejo, and locate there. He has been offered very tempting inducements by a number of fraternal societies to become their physician guaranteeing a salary of $1000 a year from this source alone, with the privilege of engaging in other practice. The doctor concluded to accept the offer.

Additional Locals.

Rosa Castro died in the county hospital last Tuesday. She had been mortally sick for several months, and last week was removed from her residence in the demi-monde district to the hospital. She was buried on Thursday.

Charles Parker, the able assistant in the express and telegraph office, has secured a good position as operator in Fresno and expects to leave for his new field of labor about the 10th of this month. He was offered a situation at much higher wages in a camp in Nevada, but preferred the Fresno position, because he will there be in frequent touch with his relatives. Although under 18, he has done nearly all the work of the Jackson office for the past year, and done it remarkably well, too.

L. J. Fontenrose, who has been rusticating at the Blakeley range in the mountains for the past month for his health's sake, was brought home on Monday. He is in very poor health, and the change of air and scenery has brought no perceptible improvement.

H. C. Shear has rented the Staal cottage on the Hamilton tract, now occupied by J. Clark, and will move therein about the middle of the month.

John E. Hageman, was drowned in a spring near the place where he lived at Butte mountain on Sunday afternoon. The daughter of Steve Ferreri was the first to notice him lying over the spring, and ran to her parents. Steve Ferreri was on the ground in a few moments, and found him with his face in the water. There was no depth of water sufficient to cover his head. He was quickly pulled from the water, and life was not yet extinct. Every effort was made to restore him, but without avail. He gave a gasp or two after being resuscitated, and then expired. It is supposed that he stooped over the spring to drink direct from the stream. He lost his balance, and pitched over sufficiently to get his face in the water, and was unable to recover himself, and so was drowned, whether overcome with a fit or sinking spell is not known. He had been drinking some. He had not been missed for more than half an hour before he was found in a dying condition. An inquest was held Monday, when a verdict of accidental death was returned.

The Ledger office has received a new press—a two revolution Campbell. It is guaranteed to print three times as fast as any press heretofore used in the county. It is also larger than the one heretofore used, which has been in the Ledger office for the past twenty-five years. It will consequently take a larger sheet, in other words, print a larger paper than was possible on the old press. Not that the Ledger will be enlarged right away, but we are prepared for all emergencies.

The press has not been put together yet, as it requires an expert in such machinery to put it in running order. For this work a machinist from the foundry in San Francisco is expected tonight, who will at once place it in running order, so that the next issue of the Ledger will be printed on the improved machine. We have also received a folding machine, the only one ever brought to this county. We hope to do away with the tedious process of folding the Ledger by hand hereafter. With this additional machinery the Ledger will be by far the best equipped printing office on the mother lode, both from a newspaper and job printing standpoint. The cylinder press is also adapted for all classes of job printing.

Dr. Wilson and Bride Return.

Dr. J. F. Wilson and bride returned to Jackson last Sunday evening, after a five weeks' wedding trip. They are stopping at the home of Mrs. Wilson's father, Mr. D. A. Patterson, until their own home is ready for them.

They have had a most enjoyable five weeks in San Francisco, Santa Cruz, and with Dr. Wilson's mother at her summer home at Ben Lomond, among the picturesque redwoods.

In Santa Cruz—Dr. Wilson's old home—they were entertained with receptions, dinners and several small parties given by old friends of the groom. There the bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, which are—a full dinner service of solid silver kites, forks and spoons, a diamond camelion pin, an amethyst necklace, several pieces of choice cut glass, and some beautifully embroidered linens.

On their way home they stopped a few days in San Francisco to buy the furnishings for their new home in Jackson.

Monday evening about sixty of the Jackson young people gave the doctor and his wife a cordial welcome home. They gathered at a common meeting ground and marched, singing, to the residence of Mr. Patterson, where they spent the evening in congratulations, and a general rollicking good time.

Mrs. Ed. Kay added to the enjoyment of the evening with some of her artistically executed piano solos. Mrs. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Andrews recited, and the whole company sang college songs.

Mrs. Patterson with her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Bierce, served elaborate refreshments.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson expect to be ready to receive their friends in their own home in about two weeks.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Method of an Ex-Society Belle

Young Cuthbert Woods when he went to the city to go into business was warned by his father against a false step in marriage. Mr. Woods, Sr., concluding: "If you marry a girl with less than $10,000 in her own right I'll disown you. If the girl you marry has that amount I will give you $10,000." Notwithstanding this warning, Cuthbert walked right into a match with a poor girl. The first thing he knew of what was happening after meeting Lucy Briggs was that he had been introduced to her by a friend of his. Cuthbert was a girl who could win hearts to throw away if she liked, but as her intentions with regard to Cuthbert were honorable, she turned the matrimonial key.

One morning the elder Woods received a letter from his son announcing his marriage with Miss Lucy Briggs. The father made no reply to the letter, but, after giving himself time to cool, wrote a friend in the city to make inquiries as to his son's wife and report. The friend wrote that Miss Briggs had been a social belle, but her father had died insolvent, she had previous to her marriage been preparing to earn her own living. On receipt of this letter Mr. Woods wrote his son reminding him of the warning given and stated that the boy could in the future shift for himself, supporting an extravagantly brought up wife as best he could.

Now, young Mrs. Woods did not feel satisfied to have brought this trouble on her husband, but she did not sit down and mourn over it, nor did she go to Aunt Delamere's this summer for a visit. She will be delighted to receive him all care of the children, and I'll have no housework to do."

"Certainly, my dear, and the quicker you get the better."

Meanwhile Mr. Winslow Woods was finding life tedious. Being a widower with no child save Cuthbert, he had always looked forward to his son and her son's family living with him. This dream had failed to materialize on account of his son's folly. Mr. Winslow Woods was not fifty, and he would have married again, but he lived in a quiet place among quiet, prosaic women, not one of whom was in the slightest degree tempting to him. But when, one morning, a stranger, Miss Aylesworth, called on him and after announcing her intention to open a school in the place asked him to countenance the project he saw something different. Miss Aylesworth did not seem fitted for a schoolma'am, but the moment Mr. Woods looked into her pretty face and noticed her engaging manners it occurred to him that she would be just the person to take the place he had intended for his son's wife. He kept her chatting over her proposed school for an hour, promising to support the enterprise not only with influence, but with money, and invited her to call every day till her plans were matured. At the end of two weeks he proposed to her, but she called his attention to the fact that he knew nothing about her and would not consent till he had made inquiries. When he told her of his son she declared that she would never marry the father without the son's consent. This broke off negotiations for a few days, but Mr. Wood had set his heart on Miss Aylesworth and finally consented as a preliminary move to send for his son and patch up a reconciliation.

One day Cuthbert Woods, who was toiling in the city, while his wife and babies were in the country, received a letter from his father to come to him. Cuthbert happily wrote his wife of the invitation and took the first train. "Cuthbert," said Mr. Woods, Sr., by your folly I have been prevented, as I always hoped, from having you and your wife with me in my old age. Fortune has given me an opportunity to break my loneliness. A young woman—rather young for me, I admit—is willing to marry me. At her request I am going to be reconciled to you. She has made no such request as to your wife, whom I still do not care to see. I will, however, from the day of my marriage allow you $1,000 a year."

Half a loaf is better than none, and Cuthbert, for the sake of his worn-out wife, yielded a dissatisfied consent. "And now," said his father, "I wish you to meet the noble lady who has effected this reconciliation." He opened a door and announced, "Miss Aylesworth, my intended wife."

To his surprise, his son stood for a moment struck dumb, with astonishment, then took his father's intended wife to his arms. Then to his father he announced in his turn, "My wife!"

Mr. Woods, Sr., having a logical mind, concluded that if "Miss Aylesworth" was good enough to run his house as his wife she was good enough to run it as his son's wife. The lady had not spoken in the town of her matrimonial project, and her mouth was sealed by a $10,000 check. It was arranged that Mr. Woods, Sr., should live with his son's family in winter in the city, and his son's family should live with him in summer in the country.

All of which goes to show that an education as a society belle who marries a poor man.

HOPE HOPKINS.

$1000 REWARD

Is offered as a guarantee that neither Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription NOR Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. Any false statement concerning their ingredients will be prosecuted. Doctor Pierce's Family Remedies are compounds of medicinal principles, scientifically extracted from native roots that cure the diseases for which they are recommended. They are medicines which have earned the public confidence for over a third of a century. They are medicines not beverages, made to satisfy a craving for "booze."

"Golden Medical Discovery" regulates and invigorates stomach, liver and bowels, and cures dyspepsia, purifies the blood and tones up the system generally.

"Favorite Prescription" cures female weakness, irregularities, exhausting drains, painful periods and kindred ailments peculiar to women. Accept no substitute for these medicines, each of which has a record of marvelous cures. Substitution means selfishness on the part of the dealer who is looking for the greater profit on an inferior article.

"Our daughter who was attending college became very nervous and we were advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. M. C. Ford, of Leonard St., Grand Rapids, Mich. "We did so and then you advised us to get the 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took four bottles of the 'Prescription' and three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and you never saw such a change in a person. She said she did not feel like the same person. She was about seventeen years old at the time. I will gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to every one I advise. I have young daughters who suffer from nervous troubles to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at once. I am sure it will help them."

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY. In copies of Medical Advice, a book that sold to the extent of 50,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.00 per copy, we shall give away $50,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of postage and a 3-cent stamp for paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. Address, Dr. J. C. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TRAVELING IN RUSSIA.

The Sleeping Cars and the Steamers on the Volga.

The sofas of our staterooms on the Volga river steamer, while pleasant enough to sit on, were devoid of the other trappings which in these degenerate days are thought necessary to a night's rest, and we had not yet learned the peculiarities of Muscovite travel. The old fashioned Russian travels with his own gear and makes himself comfortable according to his own ideas, and they are by no means narrow. A place to sleep on is provided. The rest he brings. On the Russian sleeping cars those who have not their own bedclothes and who wish to undress and go to bed in the American fashion can have all that is requisite for 50 cents. The porter on demand brings a linen sack, whose seal he cuts in your presence with considerable ceremony and from which he produces a pillow, blankets and sheets of beautiful fine linen. This was the system on our boat, and our minds were soon at rest.

I afterward inspected the lower decks of the ship and saw the way the third class passengers were cared for. It was primitive, but clean and wholly suited to the customs of the people. Each person was provided with a spotless board to sit on by night and sit on by day, and he made himself as happy or as uncomfortable as he chose. Most of the passengers seemed to take traveling as a migration, to judge by the pots and kettles, furniture, blankets and clothing stowed about them—"everything but the kitchen stove," that important but dangerous article being replaced by the ship's galley, with its bountiful hot water always ready for the eternal teaming—Captain T. Bentley Mott, U. S. A., in Scribner's.

THE BELTED PLAID.

This was the Original Dress of the Scottish Highlander.

The original dress of the highlander was the belted plaid. This was a piece of tartan cloth, two yards broad and four long, which was drawn around the waist in nicely adjusted folds and tightly buckled with a belt. The lower part came down to the knees in much the same manner as the modern kilt, while the upper part was drawn up and adjusted to the left shoulder, so that the right arm might be perfectly free. The upper part of the plaid, which was used as a covering for the shoulders and body in wet weather, and when the use of both arms was required it was fastened across the breast with a brooch, often curiously enriched. A brooch was also used to fasten the plaid on the left shoulder. To attire himself in the belted plaid required on the part of the highlander no small amount of dexterity. The usual way was to lay it on the floor and after carefully arranging the folds to lie down upon it and then buckle it on. The lower end was fastened at the right hip. The utility of such a dress in the highlands is obvious, for the plaid rendered the man indifferent to storms and prepared to pass a night in the open air in the most inclement weather, while the loose undergarment enabled him to wade rivers or ascend mountains with equal ease. It was thus peculiarly adapted to the wanderings of the hunter and the shepherd—London Mail.

PRAIRIE DOGS.

Choked Up a River While Traveling From Oklahoma to Texas.

"The prairie dog migration from Oklahoma to southwestern Texas during July, 1874, eclipsed anything of that sort witnessed by white men in this country," said a veteran who saw it. "Millions of the frisky little barks were on the march in quest of new pastures or perhaps feared the approaching legions of home seekers would surely exterminate the dogs and plow up the dog towns. The prairie dog migration from the north to the southwest lasted six days during the month of July, 1874. The traveling dogs while crossing the Red river interfered to a great extent with the cattle that came to that stream to graze their thirst. Some cowboys that were on the banks of Red river during the time when the prairie dogs swam across say that the stream was chock full of the little rascals for many miles up and down the river. The thirsty cattle were either unable or unwilling to stick their mouths into the water through the moving mass of living prairie dogs. The cowboys were getting ready to drive the famishing stock to a distant stream, but the Red river, the river of the repelling swimmers after blocking the useful drinking place for about a week. It was generally supposed that the dogs halted when they had reached the staked plains of Texas."—Kansas City Times.

PUNISHED BY PROMOTION.

Curious Laws That Prevailed in the Florence Republic.

The Florentine republic had a unique method of dealing with its too ardent democrats. In 1233 the state passed the famous "Magna Charta of Florence," to curb the cruelty and rapacity of the lawless nobles, who, in defiance of the law courts, were accustomed to flog and torture their dependents at will. The act practically disfranchised these titled harpies by a clause which excluded them from the government. The body in the state corresponding to the British cabinet—unless they renounced their nobility.

This curious provision prepared the way for a still more extraordinary clause, which enacted that any member of the democratic party who made himself obnoxious to the government and was by them declared to be "guilty of treason to the commonwealth" should be given a patent of nobility and thus be placed on the same level as the nobles. The law was reduced to a political body at the will of the state—London Mail.

Of all the can'ts in this canting world, though the cant of hypocrites may be the worst, the cant of criticism is the most tormenting.—Sterne.
